

Josh Stegall is the Assistant Director of Rod and Staff Ministries and a pastor at Cornerstone Reformed Church in Franklin, IN.

Josh was saved by God in 1995. Three years later, a call to gospel ministry led Josh to return to college and pursue a B.A. in Biblical Studies. For two years, Josh served in a local church in Jackson, Tennessee. In 2003, Josh was called to further study which lead to him enrolling in The Southern Baptist Theological Seminary. While in seminary, Josh was active in LaGrange Baptist Church. He received his Master's of Divinity Degree in Christian Ministry in 2007. In 2009, Josh and his family moved to Indiana to serve as the Minister of Education and Sr. Adults at Calvary Baptist Church in Greenwood. He later transitioned to Minister to Families and Administration at Calvary. In August of 2015, Josh left Calvary to serve as the Assistant Director of Rod and Staff Ministries and joined in co-pastoring at Cornerstone in June of 2016.

Family: Josh and Ashleigh have been married since September of 2001. They have been blessed with three children; Ella, Jackson, and Anne.

Authors of Interest: Josh enjoys reading the Puritans (especially the Puritan Paperbacks). He also likes books that help equip people to live life rightly before God. His other interests include spending time with family and rooting for the Tennessee Volunteers.
